To whom it may concern,

I am Nate Bachman, Field Operations Manager of Retail Construction Services. We started working with Ascent because we had somewhat of a failure to launch with our staff, and needed an outside partner to assist in getting our team aligned with our new processes in procure. Ascent helped us reach our goals by guiding us along a process giving us a good look in the mirror as to our current processes which allowed us to take a different approach to how we would utilize procure in the future. They also helped us by creating training documentation to allow us to more easily train new hires on our processes in the future.

This work, along with the help Ascent provided, allowed us to reintroduce procure to our team in a more successful way.

Ascent really helped us with our re-implementation and I would recommend them to anyone looking to fine tune their processes around a software rollout.

Sincerely,
